

Nebraska Wesleyan University
5000 St. Paul Ave.
Lincoln NE 68504-2796

Assistant-Associate Professor, Elementary Education

Position: Assistant-Associate Professor of Elementary Education. This is a full time tenure track position in the Department of Education.

Responsibilities: Teach courses in the Education Department including elementary methods courses and supervise practicum students and student teachers. Faculty members are typically expected to participate in the delivery of the general education curriculum as well as classes for majors.

Qualifications: Ph.D. or Ed.D. in Elementary Education preferred, ABD or significant completion of a Ph.D. or Ed.D. program required, as well as three or more years successful teaching experience in elementary (K-6) schools. Background in math education or science education is helpful.

University and Community: Nebraska Wesleyan University is nationally recognized for the strength of its academic programs and excellence in teaching. The department offers three undergraduate majors and twenty-four endorsement programs. The undergraduate, liberal arts campus is located in a quiet residential neighborhood in Lincoln, the state capital.

Salary: Commensurate with qualifications

Starting Date: Fall 2008

Application procedure: Interested persons should apply in writing to: Dr. Tim Anderson, Chairperson, Department of Education, Nebraska Wesleyan University, 130D Smith Curtis, 5000 St. Paul Ave., Lincoln, NE 68504.

Please submit a letter of application, vitae, three letters of recommendation and official transcripts. Formal consideration of applications will begin February 15, 2008 and will continue until a suitable candidate is selected.

Nebraska Wesleyan University actively seeks a culturally diverse faculty and student body, encourages applications from minorities and women and is an equal opportunity employer. The University also supports global studies and international experiences for both students and faculty.