Football started on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus in 1891. In the years 1891 through 1895, Nebraska Wesleyan played practice games against the likes of Cotner, Worthington, Wahoo, Havelock, and Lincoln High. One of the coaches during this period was James Johnson. Complete records during this period could not be located after detailed research.

Football became an official sport at Nebraska Wesleyan in 1896. However, after the 1897 season, the sport was banned for excessive violence. After much lobbying, Nebraska Wesleyan opened its doors back to football for the 1908 season.
